The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: page 1 of the specification fails to update the status of the parent application No. 09/577,858.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

There is no antecedent basis in claim 1 for the terminology "anti-fungi" in claim 5. Such terminology as "anti-fungal" can be used to overcome the rejection.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-13 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-6 of U.S. Patent No. 6,632,796 in view of D'Augustine et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,416,779 B1). The claims of the U.S. Patent No. 6,632,796 are directed to the method of treating vaginitis with sucrose and/or maltose and an acid or alkali but do disclose addition of an anti-fungal agent. However, since D'Augustine et al disclose the treatment of vaginitis with such anti-fungal agents as fluconazole, terconazole and tioconazole (column 6, lines 16-23), a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the instant invention was made would have been motivated to add an anti-fungal agent to the compositions encompassed by the claims of the U.S. 6,632,796 because such a person would have expected the resulting composition to be useful for treating vaginitis.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Lamothe et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,518,733) in combination with D'Augustine et al (U.S. Patent No. 6,416,779 B1).

Lamothe et al disclose a vaginal gel (column 4, EXAMPLE 5) containing maltose (column 2, line 8) and an acidic buffer which adjusts the pH of the composition to the 5 to 7 range (column 3, lines 35-39) but do not disclose the addition of an anti-fungal agent. However, since D'Augustine et al disclose the use of anti-fungal agents, such as fluconazole, terconazole and tioconazole for the treatment of vaginitis (column 6, lines 13-30), a person having ordinary skill in the art at the time the instant invention was made would have been motivated to add an anti-fungal agent to the composition disclosed by Lamothe et al in order to prepare vaginal gel useful for treating fungal infections. Therefore, the claimed compositions and methods are deemed prima facie obvious over Lamothe et al in combination with D'Augustine et al.
